

Smee & Ford Masterclasses

Extend your reach and build your brand in the legacy giving sector.

With reach to over 8,000 legacy administration and legacy fundraising professionals across the UK, Smee & Ford is uniquely placed as a trusted and credible partner to help meet your marketing goals.

Partnering with us to host a 1-hour virtual Masterclass is your opportunity to deliver timely and relevant content to a busy, time-poor community who seek continuous education and learning.

With a strong track record in delivering attendance and high-quality leads, a Masterclass can help you:

Raise your business profile with new and existing partners from the charity sector

Build your position as a thought leader in legacy giving

Connect and engage directly with senior legacy professionals

Showcase and target your business solution to a focused audience

What kind of Masterclass will you host?

Explain

Support the continued education of the sector at all levels – from charity leaders looking to set up a legacy team, through to professionals requiring in-depth learning to optimise their role. Present a 'how to' guide on a fundamental topic and build your brand as a trusted source of knowledge, support and advice.

Inspire

Help senior charity professionals discover the ideas that will help them advance their legacy giving income stream. Whether that's through trends analysis, new strategies for growth, or leadership inspiration – host a fireside chat to build a focused and personal connection with your target audience.

Inform

Provide clarity, focus and guidance on the latest complex challenges affecting legacy teams, including regulatory, environmental and behavioural changes. Design an interactive and discussion-based session to help today's legacy professional continually adapt and innovate.

Explore

Offer timely solutions to charities as they seek innovation and efficiency to do more with less, whilst providing an exceptional experience. Directly engage with your charity audience and demonstrate how your product or service offering can help meet today's challenges.
